Training, Instruction, and Product Demonstrations

Schedule

Unless otherwise scheduled, courses generally start at n, with a lunch break from noon until 1 pm, and conclusion by 5 pm. All classrooms are equipped with digital projection and guest WIFI access. A notebook for taking notes or a phone, tablet, or laptop are helpful for referencing on-line technical information. Catered lunches are provided by PTI for participants in scheduled training programs, and a list of preferred caterers for hosted events is available by request. There are also numerous restaurants accessible nearby in West Valley City.

Equipment

For all activities at height, Petzl America will provide all rigging and Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) from a managed inventory. Participants may bring their own PPE, subject to clear identification, inspection and verification for use by a trainer. Closed-toed shoes are required for all activities at height. Gloves are provided, but participants may choose to use their own. Clothing should be appropriate for the activity.

Assumption of Risk & Liability Release

All training participants and guests doing any activity "at height" will be asked to read and sign in agreement to an assumption of risk and liability release at the start of the program.

Climbing Wall

The climbing wall is not available for public use, but participants engaged in training with our recreational products may have the opportunity to climb if scheduling and staffing permit. With permission, participants who use the ACS are required to take a belay test. Harnesses and belay devices will be provided from a managed inventory, but participants will need to provide their own climbing shoes if desired.
